

Philippine Native Plants Conservation Society, Incorporated

U.P. Diliman Native Tree Walk

July 2, 2011

Have you ever seen the following native trees: dita, kalumpang, baguilumbang, dungon, malugai, bignay, pili, anonang, katmon, balitbitan, palomaria, bagtikan, alagao, bagarbas, etc? Good thing, these native trees could still be found in the U.P. Diliman campus. Join the rare treat of walking around the State U Diliman campus to spot the nice specimens of the mentioned native tree species. Walk with us, the members of the Philippine Native Plants Conservation Society, to learn and know more about these native residents of our rainforests in their last stand in urban Metro Manila.

When: July 2, 2011, Saturday at 9 am

Where to meet: In front of the UP Oblation (park at the College of Music or AS Parking Lot)

Who to expect: Blogger and Landscape Arch. Patrick Gozon will lead the group, together with special guests – Prof. Ed Gomez, Prof Gerry de Villa, Prof, Jasper Obico, Mr Emil Sotalbo and PNPCSI members.

What to expect: Face to face with Philippine native trees, history of trees, candid stories and lots of trivia about native trees.

Walking areas and trees to cover (if time permits)

University Ave: Pili, Balitbitan and Ilang ilang
Lagoon : Dungon Late, Bagarbas, Alagao, Salingbobog, Malugai, Dita and Anonang
Beta way : Baguilumbang and Narra, plus the 100 native seedlings plot
Melchor Hall : Katmon
Malcom Hall : Bitag
BA : Bagras
Benitez Hall : Dumayaka and Babulong
Gonzales Hall : Dungon, Kamuning and Kalumpit
Laws 101 : Kalingag
Pavilions : Malasambal, Antiaris, Bignay, Lipa, Pandan, Himbabao
MSI : MSI native trees
Gomburza : PNPCSI native tree planting site

What to wear:

Comfortable shirt and pants

Rubber shoes/rubber boots

Hat/cap

Sunscreen/Off lotion

Strongly suggest to use small backpack for stuff

What to bring:

Bottled water

Snacks

Notebook and pen for notes

Camera / Binoculars

Umbrella/rain gear (optional)

Face or hand towel

Extra shirt

Lots of humor!

A minimal donation of P100 will be requested from non-PNPCSI members who will join this activity. Said donation will fund other PNPCSI activities in the future.

Pls .sign up with me or any PNPCSI member so that we know how many attendees to expect.